"One time the server in our office went down and The Uptime Group called with instructions on how to boot it back up before we even knew it was down. This downtime prevention kept 20 engineers working."

We experienced embezzlement at one of our international offices, and during the lawsuit that ensued, someone from that former office tried to break into our server. The Uptime Group alerted us within five minutes of the attempted break-in with documentation. It turned out to be one of the people who had embezzled from us.
